

"GRIPPY" INFLUENZA

DOCTORS SAY:

"TAKE IRON"

For building up weak, nervous, run-down people, doctors prescribe iron. It is the greatest blood purifier and strengthener known, and, taken in proper quantities, it builds up the body like nothing else can. But many of the iron preparations before the public contain too little iron; many of them contain from 10 to 25 per cent. of alcohol, and alcohol counteracts the efficiency of the iron.

Acid Iron Mineral

is free from the presence of alcohol. It is obtained from the only natural medicinal iron mineral deposit of its kind known to the world; a pure, natural iron product, free from the drug of the chemist and the "dope" of the pill maker.

In addition to three forms of natural iron Acid Iron Mineral contains magnesium, potassium, sodium and calcium, medicinal properties which your doctor prescribes for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, and many ailments arising from a disordered stomach. As a general tonic it comes closest to the ideal, making rich, pure blood, and toning up the system and weak vital organs to normal. (A-I-M is splendid for nasal spray and gargle, prevents influenza.) Don't delay, call for it to-day.

Be sure you get Acid Iron Mineral; ask for it by name. Look for the A-I-M trade mark, it is your guarantee of a pure, concentrated, efficient, economical iron product. At all reliable druggists or the Ferrodoine Chemical Corp., Roanoke, Va. For sale in Paris by Brooks & Snapp.

NO MORE WAR GODMOTHERS

(New York Sun.)

Exit the epistolary godmother. The War Department, in forbidding all officers and men to correspond with strangers, has kicked romance in the face, and perhaps wisely.

In armies lacking the amusements which are provided for American soldiers here and in France the godmother was probably a comfort. The soldier without relatives found respite from loneliness in a letter from a woman, even if he never knew her, never would see her. But so many pains have been taken by various organizations to cheer the American soldier in his spare hours that godmothers the nonessentials of war. There is also a hidden danger for the War Department fears that not all godmothers may be loyal.

Efforts are constantly being made by strangers to find soldiers with whom they may correspond, in most cases innocently enough, but the opportunity which might be offered to a wholesale propaganda by well-organized groups of enemy sympathizers is obvious.

The soldier will not miss the godmother as much as the godmother will miss the soldier. He has a large and active war with which to occupy his mind. The godmother will miss the thrill of peering into the post-office box to see whether there is a letter for her from Upton or France. Perhaps she is twenty years older than he; what of it? He will never get out to Bickville, Mo., and he will remember her, through the pink not paper, as a beauty of 19.

A WALLED CITY OF WOMEN

A little sunny village has grown up inside a high wall in France within the last year. Its square flat houses stand in straight even rows and along one side of the city wall is a long dormitory for single women. There are many more of them than of the families in the drab little houses. The village is full of women—old, young, middle-aged—whose faces, hands and hair slowly are turning yellow from the powder which it is said will eventually affect their lungs. But most of them are refugees and the fact that they are giving up their good looks, their health, and perhaps their lives in the munition factory, is of little moment to them. They have come into the walled town from ruined villages and devastated farms with their frightened little children, their despairing old people, carrying all their earthly possessions in tiny bundles. In their individual lives there is no future; in all their world there is no interest but the conquest of the Hun.

No one comes into this little war community that centers around the big new munitions plant but those who work. Because of the danger and the blighting yellow powder, the work is highly paid and all the workers are volunteers.

The women wear overalls or apron dresses, some of black sateen, some nondescript. The dull garb harmonizes with the yellowing faces and despairing eyes.

Into this modern walled city of despair the Blue Triangle has flashed the first message of hope. The Y. W. C. A. foyer is the only recreational center within reach. The cars which find cafes at the end of the line a mile away, stop running at seven o'clock to save fuel. The city is three miles from the factory.

"My problem," writes the Y. W. C. A. secretary in charge, "is to keep the women occupied in the evenings, to give them good healthy amusement so that they will forget their sorrows and go to bed and sleep, physically tired out from playing."

She goes on to tell of some of the women and girls who come to the foyer:

"There is a pretty little round, rosy-cheeked girl here who is just beginning to show the effects of the powder. The roots of her hair and her forehead are a pale yellow. The palms of her hands are a deep burnt orange and her hands and arms a bright yellow."

"There is an ex-professional dancer, an interesting girl who enjoys the foyer and helps entertain the other girls. There is a professional pianist who does her bit at the noon and evening hours. There is one rough-and-ready girl who speaks English, whose father was an innkeeper in northern France. There is a pretty little girl who is engaged to a French soldier who still is rejoicing over the five minutes she had with him recently during an air raid. His mother is the caretaker here and he is one of six sons in the war. Two of them are German military prisoners, two are civil prisoners in Germany and two are soldiers in the trenches. Her home in the north of France was destroyed and she escaped with a small bundle of such things as she could carry in her hands."

"There is a sweet-faced girl who was a lacemaker in Valenciennes, who came direct to us from the German-ruled section after a hard experience in getting away."

These are the women the Blue Triangle is helping to forget—perhaps only for an hour at a time—the horrors that have blackened their hearthstones and darkened the world.

"My foyer," the secretary writes, "consists of a hall and two large rooms with cement floors. One has a writing table and paper, pens and ink, sewing machines, a cupboard with tea-cups in it, a large table with papers and magazines, easy chairs and my desk. The other room has a piano, more tables, chairs, ironing boards and a Victrola. There are unframed French pictures and American and French war posters around the room. The walls are painted gray and white."

Saturday evenings they sing and dance. "First they have a chorus," writes the secretary, "such as 'Le Reve Passe' or the 'Hymne des Aviateurs' or something equally thrilling, and at the final notes of triumph a voice at my ears begs, 'Un polka, mees.' The polka finished, there is a call for the 'Hymne Americain' and we sing the 'Star-Spangled Banner' (Le Drapeau Etelle) in two languages."

These foyers have been established in several munition centers in France. Each one has a cafeteria, a recreation hall and rooms fitted up as rest rooms, writing and sewing rooms. At night these rooms are filled with French girls learning English, book-keeping or stenography, that they may work in the offices of the American Expeditionary Forces. In connection with each is a large recreation field or park.

At the request of the French ministry of war the Young Women's Christian association has opened club-rooms for the sixteen thousand French women employed in the offices of the war department.

So successful has been the foyer work in France that a call has come from England to the American Y. W. C. A. to bring its Blue Triangle huts and foyers across the channel. The English Y. W. C. A. has established centers for munitions workers on a smaller scale, but after inspection of the American work in France the four English representatives to the Allies' Women's congress in Paris in August, officially requested that the American Y. W. C. A. undertake similar work in England.

GERMAN PROPOGANDA THAT TEACHERS WILL NOT GET SALARIES.

German propaganda is being scattered in the mountains among the school teachers is the opinion of State Superintendent Gilbert. As a result Gilbert issued the following statement:

"To the teachers of the public schools of Kentucky:

"From information coming to my desk in the State Department of Education, there is going through the State, and especially in the eastern end, a false rumor which sounds very much like German propaganda, that the teachers will not be paid their salaries for this year's work."

"This report is absolutely without foundation. True, by reason of readjustment of the tax system of the State, the State is a little behind with the teachers, but not more than usual, and we will soon be able to pay teachers every penny due them."

"The last General Assembly passed an act to have the teachers paid the first of September in interest bearing warrants if there was not sufficient money in the school revenues to pay them. The validity of this act has been questioned and this is now before the Court of Appeals for its decision. Whatever may be the decision of the Court of Appeals will not affect the fact that the teachers, by the middle of December, will be paid by the State all the money due them for services."

"I am glad to be able to state that after this year the school finances will be on such footing that never again, I hope, will there be a delay in the payment of teachers' salaries."

"V. O. GILBERT,
State Superintendent."

TO AILING WOMEN

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer in Paris.

No woman should consider herself healthy and well if the kidneys are weak. Poisons that pass off in the secretions when the kidneys are well, are retained in the body when the kidneys are disordered. If the kidneys and bladder become inflamed and swollen worse troubles may quickly follow. This is often the cause of bearing-down pains, lameness, backache, etc. Uric poisoning is also frequent cause of headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatic pain.

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy that has proven effective in thousands of such cases. Let a Paris woman tell of her experience.

Mrs. A. L. Burley, 329 Eighth street, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills, getting them from the Ardery Drug Co., and from the benefit I received, I certainly think they are a good, reliable remedy. Whenever my kidneys have acted irregularly or my back has been weak and lame, I have used a box or so of Doan's Kidney Pills. They have always relieved me of the complaint."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Burley had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. (adv)

SINCERE GRATITUDE

Mrs. William Bell, Logansport, Ind., writes: "I deem it my duty to express my gratitude for the good Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy did me when I had a severe attack of diarrhoea three years ago. It was the only medicine that relieved me."

Do You Think There is No Competition?

If anyone thinks there is no competition amongst the big packers he ought to go through a day's work with Swift & Company.

Let him begin at the pens when the live stock comes in; let him try to buy a nice bunch of fat steers quietly and at his own price without somebody's bidding against him.

Let him realize the scrupulous care taken at the plant that not one thing is lost or wasted in order that costs may be held to a minimum.

Let him go up into the office where market reports are coming in,—and reports of what other concerns are doing.

Let him watch the director of the Swift Refrigerator fleet, maneuvering it over the face of the country like a fleet of battleships at sea.

Let him take a trip with a Swift & Company salesman and try to sell a few orders of meat.

Let him stay at a branch house for an hour or two and see the retail meat dealers drive their bargains to the last penny as they shop around among the packers' branch houses, the wholesale dealers, and the local packing plants.

And then, when the day is over, let him have half an hour in the accounting department, where he can see for himself on what small profits the business is done. (Less than 4 cents on each dollar of sales.)

If he still thinks there is no competition in the meat business it will be because he wants to think so.
